

Answer ID 1149
Date Created 03/22/2000 06:40 PM
Date Updated 09/25/2003 09:13 AM
Access Level Everyone

There are not enough licenses to allow use of the program at this time.

Question

I reinstalled Timeslips and now I am getting an error indicating "There are not enough licenses to allow use of the program at this time." How can I correct this error so that I can use the program?

Answer

This document will walk you through clearing licenses. This function enables you to clear licenses so that you may use the license on another machine or on your existing machine if you reinstalled Timeslips.

1. Close Timeslips, and start Station Administrator. All workstations must close Timeslips.

NOTE: Station Administrator can be located on the start menu under Timeslips.
2. Select Options; Licenses in Use to open the Licenses in Use dialog box.
3. Highlight at least one license (e.g. the license for the workstation you are moving), and click Clear.
4. When the Clear Active License prompt opens, click OK if the license(s) is not in any other database.
5. Click OK to confirm that the selected license(s) is not in any other database, and return to the Licenses in Use dialog box.
6. Click Done.
7. Close Station Administrator, and start Timeslips.